I have been able to complete this study in time due to the cooperation of many people. I am highly indebted to my supervisor, Prof. A.L. Agarwal, Associate Professor in Economics, Department of Humanities & Social Sciences, IIT, Delhi. It was his continual guidance and encouragement that made me complete my study in time. I am specially grateful to the members of his family for bearing me smilingly as I used to visit Dr. Agarwal for consultation mostly at odd hours such as evenings and week ends which normally should have been the privilege of his family.

I have been benefited by discussion with people familiar with the shipping industry. I am specially thankful to Prof. H.B. Desai of the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade, Mr. S.G. Sundariyal, Secretary (International Relations), Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce & Industry, Mr. H.N. Fotedar, Managing Director, Indian Ports Association and Senior Officials of the Madras Port Trust.

I would not have been able to carry out my research but for access to many libraries which provided me invaluable information. I am thankful to the staff members of all these libraries, specially those of the Planning Commission, Ministry of Surface Transport, National Council of Applied Economic Research, Indian Council of Social Science Research, Indian Shippers Council and Associated Chambers of Commerce and Industry of India (ASSOCHAM).

I would be failing in my duty if I did not remember the assistance given to me by many of my friends and well-wishers in verifying data, proof reading and other secretarial work. I would like to remember, with a sense of gratitude, the assistance given by Mr. Anand Makkar, Senior Research Assistant in Economics, IIT, Mr. C. Venugopal, Mr. J.L. Sharma, Mr. Premarajan, Mr. Jagannathan and Mr. Sampath Kumar of ASSOCHAM and Mr. J. Ramakrishnan.

Finally, I am indebted to my parents, who desired strongly that their son attain academic excellence aspired me in completing my work. Willing sacrifice of family enjoyments on the part of my wife and my little daughter helped me a lot in my work; I am grateful to them.
